

A Golden Opportunity

Bring your broken, outdated, inherited gold, silver or platinum jewelry, diamonds, class rings, sterling silver flatware, US coins up to 1964, even dental gold!

TURN YOUR GOLD INTO CASH
Cash $$$ on the spot!!

GOLD BUYING EVENT

hosted by Local Goldsmith
"The Gold Guy"

Ron Denning
at

Breckenridge Jewelers
at Main Street Station

Wednesday, Dec 9th & Thursday, Dec 10th
10:30 am to 5:30 pm

Can't make it? Call for appointments
Ron Denning 970.390.8229

THE COUNTDOWN TO THE HOLIDAYS HAS BEGUN.
There are only 6 weeks until Christmas...

As a "Thank you!" to all of our amazing patients...It's the "holiday pick your present" from A Wrinkle in Time.

Please enjoy:

A $50 rebate on BOTOX treatments of at least $200 until December 31st.

$100 savings per syringe of Juvederm cosmetic line filler.

$50 savings on Photorejuvenation treatments of the face, neck, and chest.

$50-$100 savings on Laser Hair Removal packages.

$25 savings on Microdermabrasion treatments.

$20 rebate (a limited number until the end of November) on Latisse eyelash enhancer.

Now is the time to look your best this holiday season!! And don't forget to tell your loved ones that you would LOVE to receive a gift certificate from us. Sign up on our "wish list" and we'll know what the elves should bring you!!

A Wrinkle in Time
SKIN CARE CLINIC

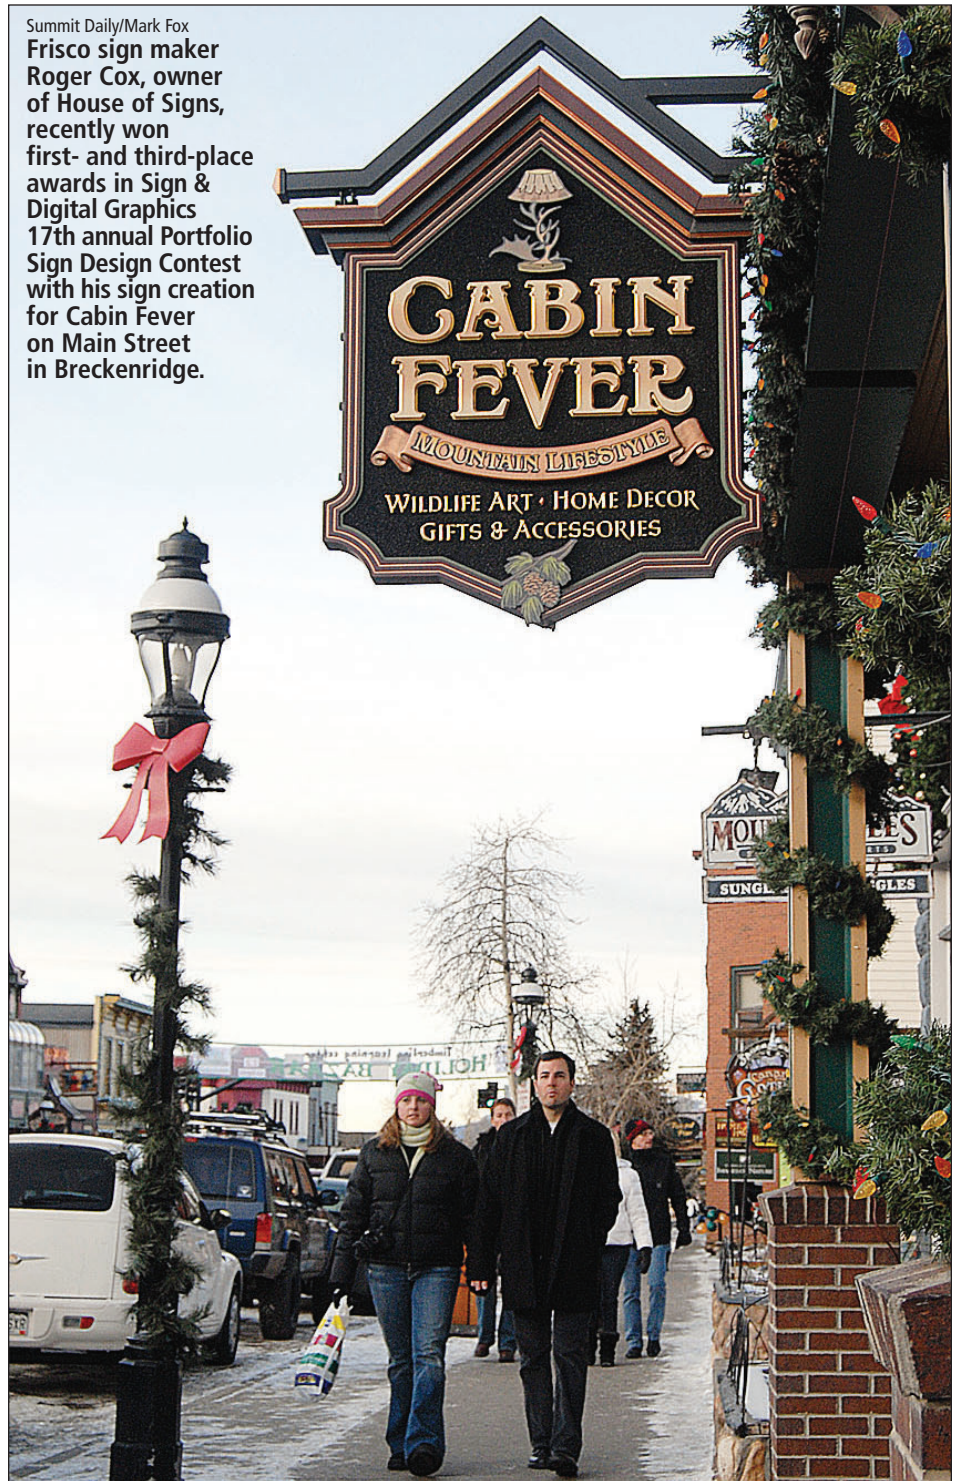

Call Today

970.331.1599

VAIL · FRISCO WWW.WRINKLENTIME.COM

LOCAL AND REGIONAL

Summit Daily/Mark Fox
Frisco sign maker Roger Cox, owner of House of Signs, recently won first- and third-place awards in Sign & Digital Graphics 17th annual Portfolio Sign Design Contest with his sign creation for Cabin Fever on Main Street in Breckenridge.

Frisco sign shop's work garners awards on an international level

By ROBERT ALLEN
SUMMIT DAILY NEWS

FRISCO — Local sign maker Roger Cox — whose iconic work is noticeable across Summit County — was recognized among peers on an international level this month with first- and third-place awards from trade magazine Sign and Digital Graphics.

The sign for Cabin Fever on 122 S. Main St. in Breckenridge received first place in the magazine's "Portfolio Sign Design Contest."

"This sign has it all — totally appropriate to the business, no question of what's inside. Classy ruggedness fits the outdoor theme. Great use of color, shape, balance and attention to detail..." according to judge Mike Z in the magazine's December issue.

Cox's business House of Signs in Frisco marks its 20th anniversary this year, and the custom handmade signs have become logos for many of the entities they represent.

Examples include the Frisco Bay Marina and Grand Lodge in Breckenridge signs. As much as 50 percent of the business signs in Frisco and Breckenridge originated in Cox's shop.

The Cabin Fever sign took about two months to complete and includes all cover edges finished with 23-karat gold leaf — one of Cox's signature design elements.

There's an image of a deer-antler lamp, which Cox said he decided to use after he "walked around their store for about 30 minutes to kind of get a feel for what products I could pull from to include in some sort of pictorial," according to the Sign and Design Graphics article.

Summit Daily/Mark Fox

Roger Cox's business House of Signs in Frisco marks its 20th anniversary this year.

Other sign makers receiving awards hail from New York, Massachusetts, Canada and as far as Australia.

The third-place winner is Cox's sign for The Barnyard at 104 Main St. in Frisco. The pet supply store's facade was repainted to match the sign, which includes crushed glass and was Cox's favorite project of the year, according to the article.

Cox graduated from the Rocky Mountain College of Art and Design in Denver in 1988. He moved his shop to 211 Main St. in Frisco three years ago, and an estimated 95 percent of his work comes from referrals.